

Overpriced

The Lost City Hotel, Dubai, UAE

11/20/2018

I had booked one night at this hotel so that we could go to the Adventurepark two days running and although the Hotel looks spectacular we were really disappointed with the rip-off factor that was everywhere. There was a charge of £5 an hour for internet access - free at our previous, much cheaper hotel. The restaurants are incredibly expensive, although the buffet at the beach bar was reasonably priced and excellent. The breakfast was superb. The room itself, while lovely, had lots of faults. The double doors to the bathroom didn't close, the wardrobe doors didn't close and the bedside light didn't work. We pointed this out but it was still not working 8 hours later when we went to bed. A disappointing stay.
